So let's start by pushing the zipper & Wall OUT at four corners of Bag Back.

The most important thing to remember when attaching your Expander is to align the side edge CLOSEST to the D-ring to the Wall/zipper.

Here's two different views of how it should look when its completely pinned in place.

Stitching this Expander in place can honestly be a little awkward so that's why I've included two different shots of how I do so with the whole Pouch standing on its edge. It feels weird doing it this way but it works just fine.

And here's how it looks when its finished.
